top spot, a position it has held since overtaking the U.S.'s Tyson back in 2017. Slaughtering over 4.4 billion birds, the company's output rose by almost 10%.

A different story has played out at Tyson, which saw output decline by 4.5%. This was enough to see it fall from being the world's second largest broiler producer to being its third.

The second-largest broiler producer in the world is now BRF, which slaughtered almost
